Founder's Message

Hi Everyone,

I hope this finds you well and enjoying this time of year. Here in NH the weather is getting better and better, and I look forward to those warm days when I can put more than one toe in the COLD ocean across the street from me. Fingers crossed.

May is a very important month to OHT. It is that month when we get to give thanks to those who have made the ultimate sacrifice for our country. It is that month of knowing more than ever what the sacrifice has meant to the families that will be forever changed. And it is that month where we understand there are those who didn't make the ultimate sacrifice but indeed have had their lives changed forever by experiencing a visible or invisible injury making them less independent than they ever imagined possible. It's our job here at OHT to continue to develop new partnerships and opportunities so we can ultimately fill more critical gaps in care, and we are proud to say this next year looks like it will be our best ever.

We at OHT want to thank you for your continued support. It simply means the world to us and to everyone we call family.

Be Well and Safe,

Dot Sheehan

TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY NAMED THE 2021
OPERATION HAT TRICK EXCELLENCE IN SERVICE AWARD WINNER

We are thrilled to announce that Texas A&M University is our 2021 Excellence in Service award winner, for its outstanding effort in aiding the recovery of wounded U.S. combat service members and their commitment to OHT. In recognition of the University's impact, OHT will make a donation to the Brazos Valley Cares on the University's behalf. Six other universities were named EIS finalists; the University of Arizona, George Mason University, Utah State University, North Dakota State University, Western Michigan University, and Clemson University.

"I am very proud of what Texas A&M has done, and continues to do, to support Operation Hat Trick and those wounded service members and veterans who are working hard to recover and reclaim their independence," said Dot Sheehan, Founder and CEO of Operation Hat Trick. "Despite a year of challenges, they have shown not only a commitment to support OHT but also a commitment to support their local community, which is so critical. We at OHT are honored and proud to be their partner."

"Texas A&M University has a long history of supporting our nation's military. We are proud to help Operation Hat Trick improve the lives of wounded service members and veterans around the country as well as in our local community," said Kyle Pope Director of Collegiate Licensing and Brand Development at Texas A&M.

Excellence in Service is an OHT program that recognizes universities for their support and demonstrated their commitment to supporting veterans by generating significant sales of branded merchandise and promoting Operation Hat Trick on campus, at retail, in their communities and through their social media, advertising and marketing campaigns.

Congratulations to Texas A&M and all the EIS finalists!

OHT Partners with StadiumSpot

Operation Hat Trick is now partnered with StadiumSpot, a leader in sports pet bed products. StadiumSpot will produce a comprehensive line of OHT-only and OHT co-branded sports-themed pet beds and products, which will be offered to consumers via Fanatics and their website.

“StadiumSpot has shown they will be a terrific partner for OHT to work with, because they deliver quality pet beds and products and are committed to supporting veterans,” said Dot Sheehan, Founder and CEO of Operation Hat Trick. “We value this commitment, and we believe our partnership will positively impact our mission.”

“Our founders include a proud father of a marine, a proud son of a 22-year Air Force officer parent and a proud father of a Navy Officer,” said Dave Galligos, Co-Founder/Partner of StadiumSpot. “For us, teaming up with OHT was a no-brainer. We’re proud to be a part of this wonderful group!”

Product is available now at Fanatics.com.
